COMMENTARY

This briefing is intended to provide a concise summary of the 2016-17 and 2015-16 winter pressures on hospital bed occupancy in the NHS North West London Region.

The statistics have been downloaded from the NHS Winter Pressures web site and formatted in order to assist their interpretation. Comparative performance from the preceding year is shown alongside each day this winter.

An occupancy percentage has been calculated for each day.

When considering these percentages, it should be noted that it is generally accepted that hospital occupancy should not exceed 85 percent.

It will be seen that all four hospital trusts regularly exceed this level of occupancy and often approach 100 percent occupancy day-after-day.

It will also be noted that some of the hospital trusts experienced higher bed occupancy for periods this winter when compared to similar periods in the previous year.

There are also noticeable year-on-year variations in the week-on-week number of beds which trusts made available.

Sustainability & Transformation Plan Implications

These summaries should also serve as contextual information when assessing the deliverability of NHS claims that 30 percent of hospital beds are occupied by patients who should be accommodated in out-of-hospital settings.

The NHS has had four and half years since the publication of Shaping a Healthier Future (SaHF) in mid-2012 to implement out-of-hospital strategies which might accommodate this 30 percent of hospital patients.

The consistently high level of hospital bed occupancy, both day after day, and year-after-year must raise serious concerns as to the deliverability of the substantial reduction in hospital beds upon which the NHS's plans for North West London are based.
